

View 2

View looking north west through the proposed park showing how large landform mounds are strategically placed to retain a picturesque landscape character.